

ALL FOR BEVERIDGE

Indiana Republicans Elect
New State Committee.

RESOLUTIONS INDORSE TAFT

Newly Elected Members Will Meet in Indianapolis Tomorrow to Select Chairman—Want Tariff Board
Appointed, and Urge Wise, Safe, and Honest Legislation.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 1.—The Republicans of Indiana in conventions in all the Congressional districts to-day elected a new State committee. The results of the elections show that friends of Senator Albert J. Beveridge are in absolute control of the party organization and will name the State chairman.

Absolute harmony and absence of factional feeling for the first time in the history of the party prevailed in eleven of the districts. The only contests were in the Fourth and Eighth districts. Trouble broke out in the latter district during the last few days of the election between the Cramer-Durbin and Stillwell factions over local affairs, resulting in the election of Dr. T. C. Colbert, a Cramer man.

Beveridge Man Wins.

In the Fourth district there was a bitter fight between Bauer, the Beveridge candidate, and Tripp, representing the old organization. The Beveridge candidate was elected, securing 91 votes; Tripp, 25.

The new committee will assemble at Indianapolis Thursday afternoon for the purpose of electing a State chairman.

The following men were most prominently mentioned for chairmanship: Henry W. Bennett, president of the State Life Insurance Company; State Senator William E. Springer, George A. H. Shuler, a wealthy glass manufacturer of Marion, and Charles F. Remy, of Indianapolis.

Resolutions indorsing President Taft and Senator Beveridge were adopted in all districts. In the Indianapolis district these resolutions, after congratulating the nation upon the election in 1908 of President Taft, and commending him in eulogistic terms, said:

"We stand for sound laws and progressive policies, and pledge to President Taft our enthusiastic support of his efforts now or in the future to secure the enactment of such legislation; and we predict that he will continue to grow in the confidence and esteem of all the people, as he has in the past."

"We are gratified that in his construction of that part of the tariff law authorizing the President to employ persons to assist him in his administration, President Taft has done much by construction as was possible for him to do, to create a tariff board and give to it vitality of which it had been deprived. In doing so he has gone as far as an Executive can go in this particular in meeting the urgent needs and demands of the people toward preparing for wise, safe, and honest tariff legislation."

"All men now recognize the fact that a board or commission of experts is necessary to investigate the commercial and industrial conditions and ascertain the facts by which alone just tariff rates can be determined."

"First, last, and all the time the people of Indiana stand for Albert J. Beveridge; they know him; he fights for the right and he votes as he fights. The issue of this campaign is the re-election of Albert J. Beveridge."

DEFICIENCY BILL INCREASED.

Senate Paves Way for Confirmation of Customs Court Justices.

The Senate Committee on Appropriations, in reporting the urgent deficiency bill yesterday, paved the way for confirmation of the pending nominations of members of the Customs Court and the Assistant United States Attorney in charge of customs.

The Senate accepted the salaries as they were appropriated for by the House, which allows $7,000 to each of the justices and $5,000 for the Assistant Attorney General in charge of customs, but amended the language by enacting that these amounts should be salaries of the officers.

The language of the bill as it came from the House simply carried an appropriation "to pay salaries." The amendment made by the Senate meets the objection that has heretofore been offered by Senators to the confirmation of members of the Customs Court. It is expected these nominations will be promptly reported and confirmed as soon as the urgent deficiency bill is passed.

The total appropriations carried by the bill is $5,712,124, which is $396,799 increase over the House bill. Of this increase $125,000 is to complete the work of the Immigration commission. The sum of $1,000 is appropriated to pay the expenses of the tax commissioners of the District.

LOATH TO SERVE.

The vacancy on the joint committee that is investigating the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy resulting from the resignation of Senator Paynter, of Kentucky, on account of illness, is going begging.

Senator Money, the Democratic leader in the Senate, after a canvass of the Democratic Senators for two days, has failed to find a member of the minority who will agree to serve.

Vice President Sherman derived much amusement from the situation when it was reported to him yesterday. Unless a Democrat can be found between now and Friday who will agree to serve on the committee, the vacancy will not be filled.

SHERMAN INDORSES SCOTT.

Vice President Urges Re-election of West Virginia Senator.

Vice President Sherman gave out an interview last night, indorsing for re-election Senator Nathan Bay Scott, of West Virginia, whose seat in the Senate is being contested by Representative William P. Hubbard, of the First Congressional District. The friends of Representative Hubbard are not at all pleased with the interview of the Vice President.

CONGRESSIONAL BRIEFS.

A bill amending the existing law to authorize collectors of customs, with the concurrence of the chief of customs, to allow goods arriving at night to unload their cargo at night, was offered in the Senate yesterday by Senator Pearson.

J. C. Lincoln, who represents the National Industrial Traffic League of St. Louis, appeared before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, which is considering the Townsend administration railroad bill, yesterday, and the principal feature of his testimony had to do with the destruction by railroads of water competition, where possible.

THE GROUND HOG.

The ground hog needs no goosebone, no instruments of brass, no weather flags or other rags, or doodads made of glass. He is no cheap professor, with "specs" upon his nose; he doesn't scrap with chart and map, or talk of "highs" and "lows." He doesn't fill the papers with yarns, furthermore, about the gale of wind and hail along in '54. An unobtrusive prophet, the ground hog does his chores; to-day he'll rise and bat his eyes, and squint around outdoors; and if he sees his shadow, all summer bets are off; the wintry blast six weeks will last—though lesser prophets scoff; and if he sees no shadow, King Winter's in the soup, and forth he'll stroll from sheltered hole, and sound the loud kerwhop. All other seers are futile, and blind, and vain, and dumb; the seventh sons of mantled ones are all upon the bum; the ground hog is the prophet whose work is sure and clear; no weather guys are half so wise—he works but once a year!

OUR LEGISLATORS

Boardman was a worthy partner of the President. After his dance with Miss Boardman, who was his only partner of the evening, the President went into the dining-room and enjoyed supper with Mrs. Anderson and several of the aids.

Dances with Bud.

The Misses Anderson and Miss Alice Blech were among the most constant of the dancers. Gen. Bell and his cousin, Mrs. Horton, were much on the floor, and he also had dances with Miss Frances Miller, one of the season's debutantes. The aids, with the exception of Capt. Butt, were also constant dancers. The President remained in the East Room and about the corridor chatting with all his guests until the last of them had left and the band played "Home, Sweet Home," which was twenty minutes after midnight.

There was much enthusiasm expressed by the young people when they saw the musicians, seated in the corridor throughout the reception proper, pick up their chairs and almost noiselessly steal into the East Room, where they arranged themselves in remarkably quick time and with no confusion. There was a general clapping of hands, and when the President stepped into the East Room from the Green Parlor and stood smilingly looking on at the preparations for dancing, again there was a very general applause. The Cabinet circle was scattered through the corridor, state dining-room, and the parlors, and Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ballinger and Postmaster General Hitchcock remained for the dancing.

Table Handsomely Decorated.

The long table set the length of the state dining-room was handsomely decorated with red roses and carnations, in mounds and candelabra at intervals, with red shades. The supper was served from this table.

Among the attractive gowns and costumes were those of the Baroness des Planches, wife of the Italian Ambassador, in cream white satin and Venetian lace, with diamonds; the Countess von Bernstorff, wife of the German Ambassador, in white brocade, with pearls and diamonds; Mrs. James Bryce, blue satin, with a bertha of duchess lace, and some handsome pearls and diamonds; Mme. Gude, wife of the Norwegian Minister, blue satin and lace; Miss Gude, lavender satin; Miss Skirg Gude, pale yellow satin; Mme. Jusseland, pale blue satin and point lace.

Mrs. Burrows wore pale blue satin, with a draped collar of point applique lace, with collar of pearls and diamonds; Miss Curtis, sister of Senator Curtis, pale yellow brocade, with a pendant of diamonds and emeralds; Miss Curtis, daughter of Senator Curtis, lavender satin; Mrs. Westinghouse, white satin, with deep bertha of rose point and a founce of same, with splendid pearls and diamonds.

In Apricot Satin.

Mrs. Vale was in apricot satin, with lace and diamonds; Mrs. Charles M. Pepper, black satin with a fall of exquisite duchess point lace about the décolleté bodice, and pearls; Miss Nora Pepper, black satin with gold embroidery; Mrs. E. E. Payne, black chiffon cloth and lace; Miss Payne, pale blue satin and lace; Miss Carusi, pink satin; Miss Frances Miller, white satin with crystal trimmings; Mrs. J. P. Megraw, white brocade satin with embroidery of silver; Miss Stewart, Dresden silk, with bodice veiled in crystal and pearl embroidered net; Miss Thibault, wife of Admiral Thibault, of the French navy, white chiffon cloth over pale blue.

Mrs. Longworth wore a yellow satin gown, veiled with gold embroidered net, diamond earrings; Mrs. James R. Mann, yellow chamoise, made princess with pointed tunic of gold net, rose point and pearls; Miss Claire Harriet, with embroidered mousseline over pale pink; Mrs. Owen, wife of Senator Owen, cream brocade satin and lace; Mrs. Guggenheim, wife of the Senator from Colorado, black velvet with rose point and pearls; Miss Alice Blech, pale pink with pearl embroidered net on the low bodice, and corsage pins of rare old pearls.

Dressed in Black.

Mrs. Molly Elliot Sewall wore black velvet and some rare lace; Mrs. Willard Warner, white satin; Mrs. Elizabeth Parker, pink satin; Mrs. Robert Patterson, gray satin with broad effect of black bowknots; Mrs. Frank Andrews, black velvet, with superb diamond dog collar, necklace, and tiara; Miss Palmer, of Indiana, white chiffon cloth embroidered with white silk over pink satin; Miss Meyer, pale yellow satin; Mrs. M. H. Davis, of Ohio, black velvet embroidered with jets; Mrs. Battle, of Seattle, Dresden silk, with lace trimmed bodice; Mrs. Goble, wife of Representative Goble, white satin with point lace, and Mrs. Henry Oxnard, gray embroidered satin.

BLOCK CARTER'S PLAN.

Rough Sea Ahead of Postal Savings Bank Bill.

A rough sea is ahead for the postal savings bank bill in the Senate. That it will ultimately pass is conceded, although much depends on the attitude Senator Aldrich will assume toward the measure when he gets actively in control of the legislative programme in the Senate.

Two distinct moves made in the Senate yesterday looking to the advancement of the bill were blocked. Senator Carter, author of the bill, made what appeared to be a harmless motion "that when the vote is taken on the bill it be by ayes and nays." Immediately there were protests from several Senators.

THOMPSON DISCARDS TOGA

W. E. Purcell, Unheralded, Takes
His Seat in Senate.New Senator from North Dakota Surprises Members of Upper House and Takes Oath of Office.

The resignation of Fountain L. Thompson, as a Senator from North Dakota, was announced in the Senate yesterday, and William E. Purcell, who came to Washington with Thompson's resignation, and a commission from Gov. Burke, to succeed him, was sworn in as a member of the Senate.

The Senate had no intimation of the resignation of Senator Thompson, who was sworn in as a Senator to fill the unexpired term of Senator Johnson, until the appearance of the new Senator upon the floor.

As soon as Senator Money announced Senator Thompson's resignation, Senator Burrows, chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, suggested that the administration of the oath of office to Senator Purcell be deferred until to-day in order to give opportunity to look into the certificate of appointment, which he said was made out to an individual instead of to the Senate, or its presiding officer.

Senator McCumber said that the certificate of appointment did not differ from that presented by Senator Thompson. Senator Burrows said the papers were irregular, but he would make no protest, and the new Senator walked to the Vice President's desk and took the oath of office.

Senator Thompson, who is in failing health, was urged to give up his seat by Gov. Burke while the latter was here attending the governors' conference. It is said the appointment of Thompson, who was a school teacher, gave offense to Democratic politicians in North Dakota, and that Gov. Burke, who realized Senator Thompson to give his seat up in the Senate, Senator Thompson is now in Texas, where it is announced he has "gone for his health."

Senator Purcell is a lawyer and prominent as a Democrat in the State. His home is in Walpole, which also is the home town of the other Senator from North Dakota, Mr. McCumber. Their law offices face each other on the same block. The new Senator is fifty-three years old.

DEFER MINISTER'S FUNERAL.

In order to give his sons time to reach the city from Chicago, the funeral of the Rev. Joseph A. Price, the Methodist minister who died Monday afternoon at the Manor House, 124 Monroe street, has been declared until to-morrow morning. The funeral service will be held at Hamline M. E. Church, and will be conducted by Rev. J. W. R. Sumwalt, district superintendent, and Rev. Charles E. Guthrie, pastor of the church. The body will be sent to Baltimore, where it will be buried in Greenwood Cemetery.

Find Missing Capital Man.

Washington police received word last night of the arrest in Philadelphia of Harry L. C. Hall, who disappeared from his apartments in the De Soto, October 5 last. Mrs. Hall requested the police to locate her husband, and when she was notified last night that he had been found she departed at once for the Quaker City. Why her husband left home she could not explain.

Give Your Stomach
A VacationBy Using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets
Which Digest Food Without Any Aid.

A Trial Package Sent Free.

The stomach should have a rest when it is tired and irritated from dyspepsia and indigestion. One should not call upon the stomach in this condition to do its full and complete duty. What the stomach needs is natural assistance and when this is given it the stomach receives the force from the stomach, so that it can do its duties refreshed and invigorated.

When you feel as though your stomach were a piece of lead, when gases or foul odor issue from your throat, when your tongue is coated and your appetite gone, it is high time to send your stomach on a vacation.

The stomach is constantly coming in contact with foreign substances, which it must reduce in form to give strength and health to the other organs of the body. It is the commissary department of the human system and must furnish from such supplies as come to it all that a system demands. It needs rest and cannot furnish all that is necessary. It weakens the entire machinery of the body, and the need of rest and commission. It cannot cure itself because the curative powers of Nature receive their force from its own benefit.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets impart all the power, vigor, and strength necessary to the stomach. They do the stomach's work and without calling on it for assistance.

If you would put your meal in a glass jar and with it place the correct amount of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets you could sit down and watch these little tablets digest the meal as perfectly as the most healthy stomach.

This demonstration has been made in every state of the Union by these tablets, one grain of a single ingredient being capable of digesting 3,000 grains of food.

If you have the slightest doubt about your stomach, go to the nearest drug store and buy a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, price 25 cents, or send us your name.

Immediately we will send you a trial package free.

TAFT'S AID SOUGHT

Insurgents Pledge Fealty and Score Regulars.

BOTH FACTIONS ASK SUPPORT

Representatives Hayes and Gardner
Call on President and Promise to Help in Passing Administration
Bills—Progressives' Meeting Mysterious and Unheralded.

Both the regular majority members of the House of Representatives and the insurgent Republicans are each endeavoring to have President Taft line up on their particular side of the fence.

The leaders of the insurgent faction have informed the President they represent the only real friends the administration possesses in the lower House. They have told him, too, that he cannot possibly do any business by harnessing himself and the administration with the opposite wing of the party in Congress.

The regulars have told Mr. Taft that if it were not for the insurgents the administration programme would have summer sailing through the House.

Insurgents Were Insistent.

The insurgents until yesterday insisted they were with the President, but against the organization, the Rules Committee, and other adjuncts to legislation which Mr. Cannon and his friends control.

The insurgents passed the buck to the regulars late yesterday afternoon, however, when Representative Hayes, of California, one of the leaders of the anti-Cannonites, and Representative Gardner, of Massachusetts, who also leads at times, saw the President and told him the time had arrived for all true insurgents to come to the aid of the administration.

The two insurgent leaders and the President were pleased with the conference, and after it was over the White House issued the following statement:

"The President this afternoon received a visit from Messrs. Gardner and Hayes, who had been appointed to call upon him as a committee at a meeting of the so-called 'insurgents' of the House held last night. Messrs. Gardner and Hayes said they called on behalf of their associates to assure the President of their good will toward him and their earnest desire to aid him in the passage of the postal savings bank bill, the conservation measures, the injunction bill, and the interstate commerce bill, recommended by him in conformity with the pledges of the Republican party platform. The President was very much pleased with their assurances."

The insurgent meeting of Monday night was so unheralded and so mysterious that it was not until late yesterday afternoon that it leaked out at the Capitol that there had been a gathering of the anti-Cannon clan.

Decision of Conference.

The decision of the conference, it was said, was reached by unanimous vote, and it was the sense of the meeting that Representatives Hayes and Gardner hurry to the White House to swear fealty to most of the administration programme, so the President and the country might know they were not attempting to hold up legislation.

Insurgent leaders felt last night that they had forced the hand of their regular brethren in legislation. It seemed evident to them that the regulars must come out with equally reassuring advances to the President, and then the next step will be a settling down to work on the promises. But the insurgents scored first in the effort to show allegiance to the administration.

One thing that seemed to have been accomplished by the insurgent gathering was the hushing up of talk of a caucus of Republicans on the proposed change in the method of selecting the Committee on Rules.

The insurgents, it was said yesterday, will not seek to have such a caucus called, and the regulars, however pro-Cannon they may be, and however much they may love the present manner of choosing the members of his principal aid, the Rules Committee, are not likely to ask for a caucus where they would be compelled to go on record, especially where they would have to go on record on a fight on the House organization.

The petition which Representative Hayes drew up several days ago, calling for a caucus on the rules, is, therefore, reposing in a pigeon-hole in his desk, and may not see the light again at this session, or at least until some of the important legislation which the Republican party platform said was desirable has been made law.

Legislative Skies Clear.

Altogether, it looked as if the legislative skies were clearing, and that the President was to have his way after all, so far as as united Republican party in the House could give it to him.

One thing noticeable about the White House statement, and confirmed by insurgents, was that there was positively to be no indorsement, at this time, of the Federal incorporation bill or the ship subsidy bill. So far there has been no agreement among the anti-Cannon warriors on these two subjects.
